LittletonCO.gov/CouncilVacancy. Applications are due by 5 p.m. December 6. Interviews will be conducted January 8 and 9, and appointment to the vacant seat will take place at the January 21, 2025 city council meeting. For further questions, contact Littleton City Clerk Colleen Norton at cnorton@littletongov.org or 303-795-3780.

As a council member, Rydin represented Littleton on the Arapahoe County Homeless Coordinating Committee, was a Community Services Block Grant program liaison, and was a liaison to the Tri-Cities Homelessness Policy Group.

"Through our collective efforts on the Littleton City Council, we've made significant strides toward a more inclusive and equitable community," Rydin said. "By passing an inclusive housing ordinance, we've laid the foundation for affordable, accessible housing for all. We've honored our commitment to addressing homelessness with a clear, actionable plan that ensures people have the resources they need to thrive. And by supporting our small businesses through the partnership with the Littleton Downtown Development Authority and Littleton Business Chamber, we've strengthened the heart of our local economy. Together, we're building a Littleton that's more vibrant, compassionate, and resilient for everyone."

Littleton Mayor Kyle Schlachter offered Rydin high praise on her election.

"I want to congratulate Representative-elect Rydin on her successful campaign to serve our community in the General Assembly," Schlachter said. "I know she will continue to work hard listening to needs of our residents and implement policies that improve the lives of everyone who calls Littleton home, just as she has done during her time on city council."

HOLIDAY CLOSURES

City of Littleton offices and facilities will be closed beginning at noon December 24, and all day December 25, January 1, and January 20.

City Considers Zoning Code Amendment to Increase Housing Options

Residents can weigh in on a proposal to allow more "missing middle" housing types to help meet the city's housing goals at an upcoming public hearing of the city council.

When the Unified Land Use Code (ULUC) was adopted by the City of Littleton in 2021, it included several land use categories that fall under "missing middle housing" types. These land use categories often have restrictive standards associated with them in the ULUC that make them difficult to build.

Easing restrictions on missing middle housing reduces government burden on private property owners, supports the goal of alleviating Littleton's housing shortage in alignment with the community-driven Envision Littleton comprehensive plan, and allows gentle density to ensure the city remains a vibrant and diverse community.

A zoning code amendment proposal by city staff presented at the October 22 city council study session would allow accessory dwelling units (ADUs) in all residential zone districts, in alignment with Colorado House Bill 24-1152 which requires municipalities to allow ADUs in all residential zones.

Additionally, the proposal would expand use by right zoning, governed by development standards:

- Duplexes and 3-4 unit multiplexes in all residential zone districts;
- Cottage court communities and 3-4 unit townhomes in medium and small-lot residential zone districts.

However, many properties remain under planned development zoning regulations, which in some cases only allows single-family detached homes. ADUs are exempt from these planned development rules, per the state legislation. The proposal does not eliminate the ability to own or build a single-family home in Littleton. Single-family homes are permitted in over half the city's zone districts and four out of five residential zone districts.

City staff conducted a community survey from August to September to understand the general public's sentiments on this topic. Overall, nearly two-thirds of responses were categorized as being supportive of increasing housing diversity within the city. Of the 15% that were categorized as "unclear," most expressed some level of support of the topic. For example, people were supportive of ADUs and duplexes, but unsupportive of other housing types. City staff conducted other research that included feedback from a technical stakeholder group, GIS analysis, and infrastructure analysis.

Residents can provide feedback on the proposal during a public hearing at the regular city council meeting Tuesday, January 7 at the Littleton Center, 2255 West Berry Avenue.

Additionally, residents can provide feedback by emailing planningprojects@littletongov.org.

Littleton Voters Approve Marijuana Tax Rate Increase

Littleton voters approved Ballot Issue 3B November 5. Ballot Issue 3B raises the city's sales tax rate on retail marijuana from 3% to 7%. Funds raised by the additional tax will be dedicated to public safety and homelessness prevention services, such as mental health crisis and proactive safety programs, and the Tri-Cities Homelessness Action Plan.

City staff estimate the increase could bring in as much as $646,000 in annual revenue for these kinds of services.

"I am very appreciative of Littleton's voters for once again supporting a financial investment in our community," said Littleton Mayor Kyle Schlachter. "The new revenues that will be raised by passing 3B will go a long way to support those who need it most by funding our co-responder program and other mental health professionals."

Christmas Tree Drop-off

Christmas tree recycling is easy and environmentally friendly! Residents can recycle Christmas trees for free at two locations from December 26 to January 10. Most trash and waste removal companies do not accept Christmas trees, so residents are encouraged to take advantage of this free program.

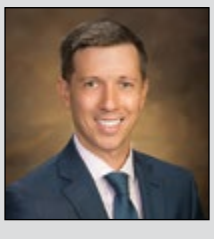

The Littleton collection site is at Cornerstone Park, in the parking lot on South Windermere Street just south of West Belleview Avenue.

An additional collection site is at the South Suburban Parks and Recreation Willow Spring Service Center at 7100 South Holly Street. Look for the designated enclosure by the front gate.

All decorations must be removed from trees including lights, ornaments, garland, tinsel, stands, and plastic bags. Flocked or artificial trees and yard refuse will not be accepted.
